

2009 Season

Almost, Maine

Romantic Comedy by John Cariani

Directed by Gregg Neuleib

February 19 – 22 and February 26 – March 1

An endearing new anthology play set in the northern town of Almost--as one local explains, "not an actual town" because "we never got around to getting organized". Characters in love have to run their engines a while to get going, but the warmth is no less palpable for being so closely guarded.

Laughing Stock

Comedy by Charles Morey

Directed by John VanDeWoestyne

April 16 – 19 and 23 – 26

This comedic look at a summer stock theatre company putting on a slate of three rotating plays is a hectic and hilarious testament to theaters everywhere that never seem to have enough time, staff, money or talent to pull off the show, yet in the end, everyone gives it their all.

The Last Mass at St. Casimir's

Comedy/Drama by Tom Dudzick

Directed by Susan Simosky

June 11 – 14 and 18 – 21

The third and final leg of Tom Dudzick's trilogy of plays about the Pazinskis -- a Polish-Catholic family living in Buffalo, N.Y., during the 1950s, '60s, and, in this installment, the '70s -- unfolds during "the blizzard of the century" that socked in the East Coast in 1977.

Busy Body

Mystery/Comedy by Jack Popplewell

Directed by Joe DePauw

July 9 – 12 and 16 – 19

A tale of a Detective Superintendent, two busybodies, a corpse that vanishes and an officious office cleaner! The action of the play takes place in Richard Marshall's private office high up in a block of offices in London.

Rabbit Hole

Comedy by David Lindsay-Abaire

Directed by Bryan Tank

August 13 – 16 and 20 – 23

This sensitive and touching play, which won the 2007 Pulitzer Prize, deals with a family's grief and attempts to recover after the accidental death of a small child.

Around the World in 80 Days

Family comedy by Mark Brown, adapted from the novel by Jules Verne

Directed by Jennifer Kingry

October 1 – 4 and 8 – 11

Based on the Jules Verne classic, five actors portray a host of international characters as Phileas Fogg and his resourceful servant Passeportout race to circle the globe in an unheard-of 80 days with every step dogged by a detective who thinks he's a robber on the run.
